DETAILED ACTION

Request for Continued Examination, (RCE)

1. A request for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, including the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(c), was filed in this application after final rejection. Since this application is eligible for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, and the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(c) has been timely paid, the finality of the previous Office action has been withdrawn pursuant to 37 CFR 1.114. Applicant's submission filed on July 28, 2008 has been entered.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

2. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

3. Claims 1-2, 5, 7-9 and 14-27 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Claim 1 is vague and indefinite as to what type of starch is being used. The claim contains two different categories of starch which are not mutually exclusive, i.e., modified and some species of natural starch. This makes the claims indefinite since it is unclear if the modified starches, e.g. the cationic, anionic, etc., are selected from the recited specie of the claims, e.g., cationic from wheat starch or from rice starch, etc., or if the starch is modified, it could be from any specie or if the starch is used in its natural form, then it has to be chosen from the recited specie?

Claim 14 is vague and indefinite, because it recites a paper of claim 1, but it is unclear how the boron-starch compound could be at least 50% on the surface, as indicated by the paper claim, claim 1, when the compound is only added to the papermaking furnish.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

4. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

5. The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

6. This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).
7. Claims 1-2, 5, 7-9 and 14-27 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Roberts et al., US Patent No. 3,112,214.

Roberts et al. teach a paper/paperboard which is surface sized with a mixture of a boron containing compound, e.g., boric acid, Borax, etc., and a modified starch, see column 1, lines 11-33; column 2, lines 9-16 and column 3, lines 14-25. Even though Roberts et al. teach the concentration of boron and starch containing substance to be added to the paper, they do not explicitly teach the amount or the ratio of starch to Boron containing substance in the paper. However, the ratio of the compounds is a result effective variable that can be optimized to desired value and obvious absent a showing of unexpected results. It has been held that "[T]he discovery of an optimum value of a result effective variable in a known process is ordinarily within the skill of the art. In re Antoine, 559 F.2d 618, 195 USPQ 6 (CCPA 1977); In re Aller, 42 CCPA 824, 220 F.2d 454, 105 USPQ 233 (1995). Roberts et al. teach the use of the same natural starches as claimed, see column 3, lines 52-59. Also, Roberts et al. teach that the most important feature of the starch is that it contains two vicinal glycols, and one of ordinary skill in the art would find obvious to modify the net charge of the starch, i.e., making it cationic, anionic or any desired charge, as long it does not change the vicinal glycols. Note that it is known to use charge modified starches for different reasons in the papermaking operation, i.e., neutralize the natural anionic charge of the papermaking stock, etc.

Response to Arguments

8. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1-2, 5, 7-9 and 14-27 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Conclusion

9. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure in the art of "Papers having a mixture of a Boron containing compounds and a Starch."
